

PO BOX 15685 SACRAMENTO, CA 95852 • (916) 428-2455
mrlobo@cinemainsomnia.com • www.cinemainsomnia.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Mr. Grill - (916) 233-6756

"THEY'RE NOT BAD MOVIES... JUST MISUNDERSTOOD."

Two great nighttime traditions - motion pictures and sleeplessness - are hopelessly woven together in "Cinema Insomnia", a two-hour TV show hosted by the enigmatic Mr. Lobo. Now this program can be viewed at the South Florida Science Museum, during their free "Mr. Lobo Nights".

During the first Friday night of each month, a new episode of "Cinema Insomnia" will be shown. That includes not only a public-domain movie from the previous century, but also any number of extras - such as interviews and obscure facts, long-forgotten drive-in snack bar ads, trailers and vintage TV commercials - not to mention the occasional adventure serial or musical "featurette".

Mr. Lobo and his sometime companion Miss Mittens have generated considerable buzz among the die-hard fans of horror films and other low-budget "disasterpieces". The program has proven to be a surprise hit with college students and grandparents alike.

Photos, more information and sample clips can be found on the internet at <http://www.cinemainsomnia.com> . The Museum, at 4801 Dreher Trail North in West Palm Beach, can be reached at (561) 832-1988 or online at <http://www.s fsm.org> .